Hanlon got him up earlier.."Your last chance to reconsider," Stern said, looking back out from the screen..you want to talk about anything instead of just around it, I'm here." "I told him to stuff it. It's over. We can be us now. I'm going to spend three months studying plasma dynamics at Norday, and after that get involved with the new complex they're planning farther north along the coast. We can all move to Norday and live there until we find something more permanent." the trembling creature on the rear lawn, where it dashed out of sight into a bed of red and coral-pink. The officers exchanged some words with the Chironians, then Portney and Wesserman approached the aircraft to survey the interior. After a few seconds Portney nodded to himself, then turned his head to nod again, back at Sirocco. Sirocco beckoned and one of two waiting ambulances moved forward to the Chironian aircraft. Two soldiers opened its rear doors. Four others climbed inside the aircraft and began moving bodies. As each body bag was brought out, Sirocco turned the top back briefly while an aide compared the face to pictures on a compact screen and another checked dogtag numbers against a list he was holding, after which the corpse was transferred to the ambulance. supply of cheap lemon-flavored vodka. The Orderly Room was chaotic as Sirocco, Maddock and Sergeant Armley from First platoon were trying to put out what looked like a fire of flashing lamps on the emergency companel when Colman stuck his head round the door less than half a minute later. "What the hell's going on?" he asked them. herself, and honest enough to admit to the shame, though dishonest enough to try to avoid facing up to. "We don't intend to let it happen," Kath said. Banishing doubt, seizing hope with a desperation grip, Curtis swallows hard and prepares himself for an. when it struck the floor and tumbled, lashing angrily, as though mistaking its own whipping coils for those. Falls couldn't quite swallow the words that were being put in his mouth. He'd actually invited the fellow home several times to talk engineering. Colman had some fascinating ideas. He frowned and shook his head before he could stop himself. "Well, he seemed to have a surprising grasp of a broad base of fundamentals. He was with the Army Engineering Corps up until about a year ago, so he has a strong practical grounding. And he's studied extensively since we left Earth. I do--I did get the impression that perhaps he might be worth some consideration. But of course that's just an opinion." In the small of his back, bolstered under his Hawaiian shirt, Noah carried a revolver. He didn't think he. old Cracker Jack. like an attractively aligned pair of mosquito bites. "I know," Kath told him. "He's through to Otto 'and Chester as well via one of our relay satellites. It's a three" way hookup." "That would be quite all right," Celia said. Lesley held his eye for a second, then nodded. "The situation is that we've got an attack from the Battle Module coming up one of the aft feeder ramps right now. We've powered down the transit systems through the ramp to slow them down, so between us we should be able to hold them off until your backup gets here. How long should they take?" They began walking quickly into the lock toward its outer door, beyond which the lines diverged into tunnels radiating away to the feeder ramps and the ramscoop support housings. "This isn't like having a big schnoz. I'm either a mutant or a cripple, and I refuse to be a cripple. People. years ago. A wickedly messed-up kid. Selling drugs, doing drugs, violent just for the thrill of it, mixed up. dark, sharing the frankfurters. Their bonding has progressed sufficiently that even in the gloom, the dog. nearer southbound lanes, cars overtake the auto transport and, from time to time, large trucks pass, as. lighters, and more exotic items that the boy can't identify, but it knows whether or not you've fed coins to. "Oh, the alien-contact thing." toward enemy positions, another tire blows. An air line ruptures and pressure falls and the brakes. Not that this did much to foster the kind of obedience that the Army sought to elicit, but then Sirocco usually had his own ideas about the kinds of things that needed to be done, which more often than not differed appreciably from the army's. Good officers worried about their careers and about being promoted, but Sirocco seemed incapable of taking the Army seriously. A multibillion-dollar industry set up for the purpose of killing people was a serious enough business, to be sure, but Colman was convinced that Sirocco, deep down inside, had never really made the connection. It was a game that he enjoyed playing. And because Sirocco refused to worry about them and wouldn't take their game seriously, they had given him D Company, which, as it turned out, suited him just fine too. Colman nodded. "Sure. They're selected and trained to obey orders and not ask questions. Some of them would shoot their own mothers if the right person said so. And Stormbel was in on it. It fits." He thought for a second longer, and then looked at Lechat and Bernard. "There were a lot of suspicious things about Padawski breaking out too. It couldn't have happened the way it did without inside help. A lot of us have been thinking it was a setup to bait the Chironians into hitting back." Howard had sought to possess, and she had refused to become a possession. Stern sought. Not to possess but to dominate Chiron. No compromise was possible; he dealt only in unconditional surrender, and she knew that those were the terms he was offering for, her survival. Perhaps she had known it even before she arrived. Her short-cropped hair glows supernaturally white. Her attempt at humor was a good sign. Colman grinned and heaved himself from his seat. "Then let's go," he grunted. Bernard gave a pained smile. "It sounds good," he agreed. "But the Directorate might have a few things to say." With an earnestness that could be achieved only by a boy-man with a wispy goatee and the conviction. Now, if he can find a toilet, all will be right with the world. Someone is walking beside the trailer, approaching the back where the boy kneels. "Just . . . what are you getting at?" Bernard asked, sounding disbelieving of his own ears and suspicious at the same time. collections of science-fiction action figures and models of ornate but improbable spaceships. In one. Curtis Hammond is a source of bitter envy, not because he has found peace in sleep, but because he is. this place must be akin to the thrill of being on an attraction-packed midway. indisputably what his mind resists: This is no random event, but part of the elaborate design in a tapestry. you're thinking about Ashley Judd or Sharon Stone, or maybe Pam Grier. Jean saw him looking and got up to come over to the window, leaving Jeeves to deal with Marie's many questions. She stopped beside him and gazed out at the trees across the lawn and the hills rising distantly in the sun beyond the rooftops. "It's going to be such a beautiful world," she said. "I'm not sure I can stand much more of this waiting around. Surely it has to be as good as over." On the Bridge of the Battle Module, Colonel Oordsen turned his head from the screen that had just gone dead in front of him. On an adjacent screen, another SD officer 'was reporting from a position farther back at a longitudinal bulkhead. "Negative at Number Two Aft," Oordsen said to Stenn, who was watching grim faced. "They'll be through there in a matter of minutes." Jay glanced at Colman, then looked at Bernard. A new light was creeping into Bernard's eyes as the implications of what Kath had said began to sink in. Jay hesitated, then decided that his father was in the fight mood. "You know, this is a bit of a risky place, Dad," he said in an ominous voice. "People getting shot all over the place and stuff like that. I could run into all kinds of trouble on my own. I'm sure you'd feel a lot happier if I had some professional protection." "I guess I'll have to think about it," Jay conceded. Hanlon ordered three hamburger dinners, and the two sergeants spent a half hour talking with Jay about Army life, football, and how Stanislaw could crash the protected sector of the public databank. Finally Jay said he had to be getting home, and they walked with him up several levels to the Manhattan Central capsule point. "Ah, well, it's not over yet," Hanlon said. His eyes twinkled for a second as he remembered something else. "Oh, by the way, there was another thing I was meaning to tell you," he said to Colman. "We made an arrest over at the shuttle base-just before midnight, it was, when we were about to be relieved." Micky finished her coffee in long swallows, as though she had forgotten it wasn't spiked, and though she."LCP's standing by and ready to fire," another voice reported.
