I stood over him, astounded, unable even to mutter an apology. He picked himself up..and in its walls were thin, crimson, crumbling beds of cinnabar... He made no sign. He thought..Quite early on, impatient with wooing her massive physical indifference, he had worked up a charm, a sorcerer's seduction-spell of which he was contemptuous even as he made it, though he knew it was effective. He cast it on her while she was, characteristically, mending a cow's halter. The result had not been the melting eagerness it had produced in girls he had used it on in Havnor and Thwil. Dragonfly had gradually become silent and sullen. She ceased asking her endless questions about Roke and did not answer when he spoke. When he very tentatively approached her, taking her hand, she struck him away with a blow to the head that left him dizzy. He saw her stand up and stride out of the stableyard without a word, the ugly hound she favoured trotting after her. It looked back at him with a grin..raised both his arms outward and up, very slowly but steadily, unstayed by anything the other man."And a good thing too!" Golden said roundly.
