Listening is a rare gift, and men will have their heroes..returned the sign.."What will you do, Master Tern?" asked the Summoner, a grey-haired mage from Ilien..Witches were to learn only from one another or from sorcerers. They were forbidden to enter Roke.What they had they shared. In that it was indeed Morred's Isle. Nobody on Roke starved or went unhoused, though nobody had much more than they needed. Hidden from the rest of the world not only by sea and storm but by their defenses that disguised the island and sent ships astray, they worked and talked and sang the songs, The Winter Carol and The Deed of the Young King. And they had books, the Chronicles of Enlad and the History of the Wise Heroes. From these precious books the old men and women would read aloud in a hall down by the wharf where the fisherwomen made and mended their nets. There was a hearth there, and they would light the fire. People came even from farms across the island to hear the histories read, listening in silence, intent. "Our souls are hungry," Ember said..Hound had taken him, had stood and seen his people beaten senseless, had not stopped the beating.."You saw it? You saw that?"
